Time: 4:30pm—5:30pm
Location: Brighthouse Library
Registration Required

A beginning workshop for Teachers, Parents, Librarians, Aspiring Authors, and anyone interested in the art of picturebooks.

We will explore the unique power of picturebooks as a storytelling tool, to uncover the interplay between text and illustration, and to understand how they support early literacy and creativity. Participants leave with a greater understanding of the power of picturebooks in developing literacy, creativity, and emotional intelligence in children, along with practical ideas for using them in various settings.
